(Ord. 4, §1(part), 1986)

9.04.020 Complicity. A person is legally accountable as principal for the behavior of another constituting a violation of any provision of any City ordinance, if, with intent to promote or facilitate the commission of the offense, he aids, abets or advises the other person in planning or committing the offense. (Ord. 4, §1(part), 1986)

9.04.030 Criminal liability of a corporation. A corporation is guilty of an offense if the conduct constituting the offense consists of an omission to discharge a specific duty of affirmative performance impose on the corporation by ordinance; or the conduct constituting the offense is engaged in, authorized, solicited, requested, commanded or knowingly tolerated by the board of directors, or by a high managerial agent, acting within the scope of employment or in behalf of the corporation. (Ord. 4, §1(part), 1986)

9.04.040 Criminal liability of an individual for corporate conduct. A person is criminally liable for conduct constituting an offense which he performs or causes to occur in the name of or on behalf to a corporation to the same extent as if that conduct were performed or caused by him in his own behalf. A substantial step is any conduct, whether act, omission or possession, which is strongly corroborative of the actor's purpose to complete the commission of the offense. Factual or legal impossibility of committing the offense is not a defense if the offense could have been committed had the attendant circumstances been as the actor believed them to be, nor is it a defense if the crime attempted was actually perpetrated by the accused.

B. A person who engages in conduct intending to aid another to commit an offense commits criminal attempt if the conduct would establish his complicity under Section 9.04.020 were the offense committed by the other person, even if the other person is not guilty of committing or attempting the offense.

C. It is an affirmative defense to a charge under this subsection that the defendant abandoned his effort to commit the offense or otherwise prevented its commission under circumstances manifesting the complete and voluntary renunciation of his criminal intent. (Ord. 4, §1(part), 1986)
